

FORTIS OBTAINS NATIONAL LICENCE

In August, 2015, Fortis MFB further reinforced its position as a dominant microfinance bank in Nigeria when the Central Bank of Nigeria granted the bank a National Banking License.

In a statement issued by the MD/CEO, he said “The bank has a goal to meet the high and growing demand for microfinance banking services by providing credible, flexible banking solutions to support the development of entrepreneurship and empowerment of the economically disadvantaged, micro, small and medium scale enterprises (MSME). This recent National status has given our vision the much needed drive with a wider reach to effectively comb the nooks and crannies of the nation and drastically reduce the population of those excluded from accessing financial services.”
